one, Mrs. Mary Nevins, died from sheer fright, and not from any physical injury. Joseph Van Dam, a plumber's helper, was crushed to death in a building at 680 Main street, which was demolished, and Richard Hancock, a ten-year-old boy, was killed by being hit on the head by a flying piece of roof while he was seeking shelter.

A great number of persons undoubtedly were injured, but the names of only a few could be collected last night. The storm struck two hospitals in its path and also two silk mills. It also damaged two schools, besides the dwellings that it left in pieces. The destruction wrought was said to be second only to that done by the fire early last year.

Directly in the path of the storm when the struck upper Main street was a two-story house belonging to Meyer Bones, which was being raised one story in order to have a store built under it. Mr. Bones was superintending the work, and at the time storm came along four plumbers were a one of them caught sight of the whirling cloud and shouted to the others to get out. The Van Dam boy, apparently, did not heed the warning. When the storm struck the building it collapsed like a house of cards, with a crash that was heard for blocks even above the roaring of the storm. The boy's body was found, badly crushed, afterward. He was 18 years old and lived at 180 Straight street.

Bones had been able to get out in time, but the sight of his house crumbling to pieces before his eyes drove him insane. He had to be put in a straitjacket and taken to the hospital. It is thought he may lose his mind entirely.

The Miesch silk mill, at Leslie and Court streets, had a part of its roof torn out and a section of wall blown down. There were about 200 employees in the place, and there was a panic among them. A few were injured by falling timbers. The wind did some queer tricks with the silk. One roll was found wound around a telegraph pole 300 feet away.

St. Joseph's Hegyital was directly in the One of them caught sight of the whirling

One roll was found wound around a telegraph pole 300 feet away.

St. Joseph's Hospital was directly in the path of the tornado. The wind took off a section of the roof and smashed every window on the top floor. There were about one hundred patients in the hospital at the time. Some of them were on the top floor and had to be hastily removed by the nurses. There was a lot of excitement, but the nurses acted with rare calmness, and it was said that none of the patients would suffer any ill effects, although all were badly swared.

The big Passaic rolling mill was hit and The big Passaic rolling mill was hit and part of the roof was taken off. The storm also blew out a section of one of the walls. John Saunders and John Connolly two workmen, were hit by falling timbers and had to be taken to the hospital, one of them had to be taken to the hospital, one of them with a broken leg.

Directly across the street from the rolling mill was the house of Mrs. Nevins. She was sitting on the stoop when the tornado came along. A daughter was inside the house and, hearing the noise of the unroofing of the mill, rushed outside to get her mother. To her surprise, she found her dead in the chair. A doctor said she died of fright. Several of the windows of the Nevins house were blown in.

St. Agnes's Church and the silk mill of St. Agnes's Church and the silk mill of Stern, Polly & Co. felt the swiftly passing tornado. Half of the roof of the school adjoining the church was torn up as though it had been a carpet. The same thing was done to the mill. There were about one hundred men working in the mill, and only two were injured. The damage to the two silk mills was estimated at about the two silk mills was estimated at about $16,000.

The tornado did great havoc among the frame dwellings on Clay and Chestnut streets in the Sandy Hill section of the city. One three-story building owned by James Burns was completely demolished. Mrs. Burns was ironing in one of the rooms on the third floor. She was blown out of the window, but was not seriously injured. Burns' mother was on the second

Mr. Burns mother was on the second floor of the house. She says she crawled out on the roof, but she was too excited to tell what happened. Mr. Burns' sister was going into the store on the ground floor when she was lifted off her feet and carried against a building in the rear about them the feet away.

twenty feet away.

In an adjacent house a man who works nights was asleep when the building collapsed. He crawled out, practically unburt, but for some time there was a story that he was dead. The Hancock boy lived at 73 Chestnut street. He was in a fruit store when the storm came up and he ran for his home which was only a hundred yards away. Just as he reached the areaway leading to the backyard a great piece of tin that the air and struck him in the head, cutting half of it off. His mother who had been looking out of the window at him fainted.

The General Hospital at Market and Madison streets is the largest hospital in Paterson. The storm struck it with a bang, tearing up the slate roof on the western wing and blowing in every window in the western half of the building. Beds were blown around inside, and the wind rushed through with force enough to break many of the windows on the Madison street

Hardly a window was left in the administration building. There was great excitement among the patients, who were kept calm by the nurses only with the greatest difficulty.

One death resulted, however Joseph Glass, a consumptive, was found dead in his bed by the nurses after the storm had sed, and the doctors said death came passed, and the doctors said death came from excitement and shock.

A two-story house on Clay street was lifted off its foundation, carried along by the wind about fifteen feet and then turned over. The house was occupied by a Mrs. Jane Smith, a widow, and a Mrs. Robinson. The two women sought refuge in a bedroom on the second floor. No one expected to find either of them alive after the house had been turned ver, but when pulled out they had nothing more serious than bruises.

Both women went to the hospital. Their case was one of the most marvellous inci-An incident which was almost a match for it was the pranks the wind played with a flagman's shanty at the Park avenue crossing of the Susquehanna railroad.

Cronin, the flagman, got inside when the tornado came along and the wind picked the shanty up with him in it and carried it a lock. He escaped with some bruises.

About the first to feel the storm burst about their ears were a lot of people who were attending a funeral at Maplewood, the home of W. S. Lambert, a well-known resident of Paterson. funeral was that of Mrs. Lambert and the house was crowded with relatives friends. The Rev. Mr. Shaw had just concluded the services when the storm broke. The women screamed and several of them made a rush to close the window shricking to others to do the same.

Ralph Shaw, the minister's son, who had had some experience with tornadoes, shouted at the top of his lungs that the windows must be left open, if the house was to be saved. Mr. Shaw said afterward:

"If we had not done this I believe the whole house would have been blown down. As it was, we could feel the suction of the wind in the room, and the whole house rocked with its force. It made several in the house, including myself, feel slightly sick, the sensation was so queer." The occupants of the houses along Barclay street and other streets of the neigh-borhood escaped death and injury almost miraculously, considering the destruction that was wrought among their homes. The men were nearly all at work and the women at the first shock of the tornado ran out of the houses in fright. A second later a lot of the houses were blown down. Some had the roofs blown clean off and the wind, getting inside, blew out whole sides in some cases. Nobody had time to save any furniture or household effects. In one instance the wind, after unroofing a-house, sucked up a chair and carried it two blocks away. It was found by the family and was one of the few articles

The wind played havoc with the orchard in the grounds of the late Jacob S. Rogers, the locomotive builder. Trees were torn up and carried away so that hardly a vestige of them remained on the place.

The damage done to trees was enormous.

A row of fine elms on Madison avenue, which were the pride of the city, were torn down and the sidewalk uprooted with them. That the storm was a rotary one was shown by the different directions in

The police reserves were ordered to patrol the district during the night, as it was feared that the ruins would be visited

MORE CONCERNS need the service of The CHELTENHAM Press than can ever be brought to realize it.

Printed matter is the last thing concerning which some business men are likely to show discernment.

150 Fifth Avenue Southwest Corner Twentieth Street

by thieves. Some of the city firemen were ordered to help in this work. The storm seemed to weaken after it passed over the Passaic River into Bergen county. It did a little damage in the village of Fairlawn in that county, unroofing a barn and injuring half a dozen houses. After that no trace of any serious damage by the wind was reported.

The list of dead and injured follows:

THE DEAD. GLASS, JOSEPH, consumptive patient in the General Hospital; death due to excitement and HANCOCK, RICHARD, 10 years old, of 73 Chestnut street; silled by a failing roof.
NEVINS, MRS. MARY, 60 years old, — Straight Street; death caused by shock.
VAN DAM, JOREPH-18 years old, a plumber of 180
Straight street; killed while working on abuilding

Straight street; kill at 680 Main street. THE INJURED.

BORNS, MEYER, of 650 Main street; skull fractured.

BYRNS, MRS. JAMES, of 273 Place street; cut and Byrne, Mrs. James, of 273 Place street; cut and bruised.

Connoilly, William, employed in Passale Rolling Mills; cut and bruised.
Cronnoilly, William, employed in Passale Rolling Mills; cut and bruised.
Cronnoilly, Thomas, of 542 Madison street, flagman at Susquehanna Raliroad crossing at Park avenue; cut and bruised.
Dunn, William H., of 263 Beach street, Passale, express wagon driver; back sprained by being blown from his wagon.
Hutsman, Mrs. David, of 66 Straight street; jumped from second-story window; back injured.
Grass, Gartano, a laundryman of Clay and Simpson streets, back cut.
Milliem, Jacob, of Albion place; head cut while working on a building at 680 Main street.
O'NEILL, Mrs. Jane, 253 Place street; cut and suffering from shock.

PERRY, JOHN, employed in Passate Rolling Mills: rut and bruised.
ROBINSON, MRS. WILLIAM, of 33 Dover street; face and head cut by house overturning.
SAUNDERS, JOHN, of 63 1 Mais street; compound SAUNDERS, JOHN, of 63 1 Main street, combound fracture of the leg.

SLOOPMAKER, PRIER, 62 years old, 109 Lewis street; cut and bruised.

SMITE, Mrs. WALLER, 33 years old, of 33 Dover street; left arm fractured.

VOKITCH, VITO, of Garfield, N. J., scalp cut while working on a building at 680 Main street.

It was possible to get a list of the persons treated at the hospitals only, but it was estimated that between 100 and 200 persons received cuts and bruises not of a serious

FIRE, WATER, AIR AND CRIME Every Source of Misfortune Has Taken

a Fling at Paterson. Fire, then water, now air. By the three lestructive elements has Paterson been devastated in less than a year and a half. The fire, which did the most damage, started at midnight on Saturday, Feb. 9. of last year and, fanned by a wind from the nortwest, burned unchecked for twelve hours, wiping out the very heart of the city and destroying property valued at between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000. Among the buildings destroyed were 100 frame houses, six bank buildings, the public library, five churches, two hotels, two schools, police headquarters, a fire station, a theatre, a clubhouse and forty or more office buildings and halls.

Offers of aid poured in on the stricken city from outside points, but the Paterson people, led by Mayor Hinchliffe, declined the offers and pluckily raised their own relief fund. Hardly had the ruins cooled, however, Hardly had the ruins cooled, however, then, three weeks after the fire, the Passaic River, swollen by spring freshets, overflowed, doing great damage to the manufacturing section of the city. The actual property damage was about $1,000,000, but the torrent that swept over the river section of the town made nearly six hundred famlies temporarily homeless and kept thou-world as one of the greatest silk manufacturing places in the country, had also acquired a reputation for general wickedness, which it has found hard work to live ness, which it has found hard work to live down. The town has been a hotbed of Anarchists, among whom was Bresci, the slayer of King Humbert of Italy; it has sheltered professional "labor" agitators who incited violence on the silk mills in times of strikes, and it sent to the world one of the most shameful stories of brutal depravity ever printed in the case of Jennie Bosschieter, who, in 1901, was drugged, put in a cab, assaulted and killed by several young "sports" of the town.

In view of this long chapter of crime or so small a town there were many who leclared that the destruction wrought on the town was nothing more or l the visitation of Almighty wrath.

DAMAGED DUKE ESTATE.

Driving Party's Narrow Escape-Somer ville Houses Unroofed.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., July 22 .- A tornado which covered an area about four miles wide passed over the Raritan valley between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon, uprooting trees and unroofing buildings. The tornado was preceded by a violent thunderstorm accompanied by hail. Hailstones of enormous size fell for ten minutes and did great damage to crops in the outlying districts.

The tornado struck the town without warning. It stripped awnings from buildings and filled the streets with limbs from the trees. The greatest damage was done the trees. The greatest damage was done in the country districts south of the Raritan River. On the estate of James B. Duke great trees were uprooted and broken into kindling wood. The great glass roof of the Duke conservatory was crushed.

A party of woman tourists from Newark who were riding about the estate in a stage-A party of woman touriestate in a stage-who were riding about the estate in a stagecoach, were caught near the path of the tornado and had a narrow escape from falling trees. The tourists reached here late in the afternoon by driving across the fields, the roads being blocked by fallen

Mr. Duke has spent many thousands of dollars in planting large trees on his estate and the work of years was undone in five minutes by the tornado. Hundreds electric lights which illuminate the 2000-acre estate are down and the place is in total darkness to-night. At Roy effeld Station, two miles south the Duke farm, the tornado destroyed Hagerman's big hay press, unroofed a large brick dwelling house and tore down telegraph wires.

A SPECTACLE FOR NEW YORK. Heavy Rain Preceded Beautiful Sky Scene Lightning at Night.

New York got only the spectacular end of the tornado. After a hard downpour of rain, which was heaviest about 3:40 in the afternoon, the skies began to clear much more suddenly than they had darkened. A strip of pale gold appeared in the west, against which background the towers, spires and domes of the city stood out in a monochrome of silver gray, with plumes of white steam showing here and there, and a marvellous mass of lead-colored, wind-tortured clouds above. At night there came another thunder-with heavy rain and very vivid Four Houses Struck in Dover. DOVER, N. J., July 22.-This town was visited this afternoon by a severe electrical storm. Four houses were struck by light-Pilisbury Made Santa Fe Attorney. SAN FRANCISCO, July 22 .- E. S. Pillsbury has been made attorney for the Santa Fé road, to succeed the late Judge Sterry, who died recently in Los Angeles.

MAN AND WIFE TAKE POISON.

THE GERALD JORDANS, THEIR MONEY GONE, WANTED TO DIE.

Their Plans Miscarry Because They Didn't Drink Enough of the Polson the First Time-Wife Gives It Up After the Second Attempt and Sends for a Doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jordan, who had odgings in the apartments of Mrs. Hawd at 126 West Sixty-sixth street, went to bed about 11 o'clock on Tuesday night after each had drunk an ounce of what they supposed was laudanum. They had planned to kill themselves because their money was gone and they did not know where to get any more.

Things had gone from bad to worse Gerald Jordan for nearly two years. He was born in India, the son of a British Government official, and was at one time in the Indian civil service. He was graduated with honors in mathematics from one of the British universities, took the Indian civil service examination and secured a high rating. He went back to India and to his station. Three or four years ago he married the daughter of a lovernment official there, and after a while the young couple decided to come to America, where Jordan was sure he could make more money. They came to this country, and finally to New York. They had taken a look about the country, and while in the south Jordan concluded there was money in an invention he had seen for removing the lint from cottonseeds. Coming to New York, he tried to incorporate a company for the manufacture of this machine. Among others whom he interested was Russell H. Landale of the law firm of Weeks, Battle & Marshall.

The venture was not a success, and Jordan next took up one of the million and one patents that have been taken out for makng a non-refillable bottle. That also failed, and for nearly a year his intimate friends have known that the young Englishman-he was not quite 40-was hard up. Of late his friends have seen little of him. A few days ago Jordan and his wife took lodgings with Mrs. Hawd.

On Tuesday they found that little more than a dollar of their money remained and that debts were pressing. They talked matters over and finally they concluded that death was all that was left for them and that they should die together. The young wife put the room to rights and packed up the few things that she and her husband had left, while he wrote some letters, one to acting Police Commissioner Ebstein, another to Mr. Landale and a third, it was said last night, to Jordan's father, who is in India. The letters written and the room made tidy, Jordan went out and bought two ounces of what he thought war landanum. Where he got it is not known. On his return to the apartment they carefully divided it, and each drank half. Then they kissed each other good-by and went

Some time after daylight Jordan woke was very sick and very much dis-He looked toward his wife, and gusted. she was lying there with eyes wide open.

Jordan dressed and, with practically the last money he possessed, bought three ounces more of the supposed drug. This they drank, and at about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning he and his wife went back to bed.

In a little time both lost consciousness. led by Mayor Hinchlife, declined sers and pluckily raised their own y had the ruins cooled, however, are weeks after the fire, the Passaic twollen by spring freshets, overdoing great damage to the manuger great damage to the manuger and the cards for either Gerald Jordan or Laura Jordan to commit suicide. She hurriedly called the hallboy, telling him to summon Dr. Headley, who has an office on the ground floor of the building.

When the physician arrived, Mrs. Jordan told him that her husband had taken laudanum and that she couldn't awaken him. After some questioning, she admitted that sands of workmen out of employment and pay while repairs were being made in the factories.

At the time of these disasters Paterson, besides being known all over the industrial doctor saw that it was a desperate case. After giving atropine, which revived the husband and kept the wife from falling to sleep again, Dr. Headley sent for an ambulance from Roosevelt Hospital, and notified the police of the West Sixty-eighth street station. Jordan was removed to the hospital in the ambulance, by order of the surgeon. Mrs. Jordan, who, at Dr. Headley's suggestion, had dressed for the street, walked there in charge of a policeman. By the time she reached the hospital much of the drowsiness had worn off, and last night was said that she and her husband would recover.

HIS DEFALCATIONS $500,000. Clerk of Buffalo Law Firm Uses Their Money in Real Estate Speculations.

BUFFALO, July 22 .- As the investigation continues into the defalcations of Frank V. Labountie, confidential clerk and bookkeeper for the law firm of Wilson & Smith of this city, it develops that Labountie's embezziements were on a far larger scale by Charles R. Wilson, senior member of the messenger in the New Rochelle post office. firm. The figures now are approaching he half million mark, and the investigation s not nearly finished.

Mrs Labountie made a statement this morning on behalf of her husband in which she voluntarily admitted that his operations were on a more extensive scale than had been admitted. She added:

"My husband returned $30,000 before his mployers knew anything about his wrongdoing, and since the beginning of the investigation he has turned over to the firm that aggregates in value not less han $100,000.

"In other words, he has restored nearly half a million dollars. When all is over Wilson & Smith will be able to realize a rofit of at least $100,000 from the operaions of a man who was insane on the ject of real estate speculations and whose mental degangement was due entirely to verwork

Thus far Labountie has not been arested formally.
The firm had fifty-two estate accounts alone, and it was Labountie's duty to look after these accounts. On some days he handled as much as $50,000 in cash. His salary was $25 a month at first. It was raised gradually to $50, and since July 1 last e has been receiving $62.50 a month. It was last July that Labountie plunged ato his real estate speculations. Once he into his real estate speculations. Once he had taken the plunge he lost all sense of fear and there was no limit to the daring which he displayed in robbing his employers to put through his gigantic real estate

ROCKEFELLER BEATS LEMORA Gets an Injunction Restraining Him From

Trespassing on His Adirondack Park. PAUL SMITHS, N. Y., July 22 .- An inunction restraining Oliver Lemora from respassing on lands of William Rockeeller has been secured by Mr. Rockefeller's attorneys. Lemora resides in the settlenent of Brandon, the scene of the operaions at one time of Patrick Ducey, late of Michigan, as a lumberman.

When Rockefeller secured the Ducey

ract he also purchased many houses of woodcutters and closed several streets. Lemora refused to accept the terms offered and is now practically confined within the limits of his little place, which is surrounded by Rockefeller's lands, with the exception of a highway, one end of which is lost in Rockefeller's park and the other end leading to the railway station and to Paul Smith's. It is said that since the decision reversing the decisions of the lower courts, which favored Lemora, Lemora and his friends have continued to fish in Rockefeller's park, and the injunction is the result

IN MOURNING FOR THE POPE. MOTHER JONES CAN'T PARADE.

Crepe on Public and Private Buildings -Many Services to He Held. Archbishop Farley's residence on Madison avenue was closed yesterday and draped with black and purple. The entire front of the Catholic Club was draped in crêpe and velvet. The life-size painting of Pope Leo XIII. which fills the south panel in the white and gold ball room was framed in folds of black velvet, and emblems of mourning were shown in every part of the large building. Pictures of the Pope, festooned with crèpe and purple, were shown in all the Catholic schools and institutions. The Cathedral Club building was draped with crèpe, and displayed on the front was a large painting of the Pope. Many private residences showed emblems of mourning. Archbishop Fari v has arranged for the service of the chanting of the office for the dead to be held at St. Patrick's Cathedral the night before the interment at Rome. This service will be the only one of its kind in the archdiocese and will be attended by all the priests of Greater New York.

The chanting of the office, which requires two hours, will be participated in by the entire assemblage of priests. Archbishop Farley, assisted by the Cathedral priests, will officiate. The catafalque, which will be taken to the Cathedral that afternoon, will be surrounded by burning tapers and the blessing will be given by the Archbishop.

Some of the clergy and guards of hono from the various Catholic societies will remain at prayer throughout the night.

Bishop Chatard of Indianapolis, who came to New York to attend the investiture service, which was to have occurred yester-day, will return to his diocese to-day. The Bishop during his stay in the city celebrated a requiem mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral. He will also singthe mass at 8 o'clock to-day before his neparture. Bishop Chatard is the oldest member of the American hier-

Bishop Maes of Covington, Ky., and Bishop Maes of Covington, Ky., and Bishop Keiley of Savannah and Bishop Burk of Albany are all in New York. Bishop Maes and Bishop Burk have both celebrated requiem services at the Cathedral.

The Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Benevolent Society, the Holy Name Societies and several other Catholic organizations are preparing to hold official services in their different headquarters. The Knights of Columbus plan an enormous demonstration at Carnegie Hall.

HOW MIKE MARTIN SAVED CHILD.

Guided His Fire Horses One on Each Side of a Scared Little Girl.

A false alarm of fire was turned in from Box 153, at the corner of Ludlow and Division streets, yesterday morning. Engine 15, located in Henry street, was the first to respond, and as it passed Clinton street Sarah Edelman, 5 years old, of 210 Clinton street, stood on the sidewalk and watched it go by.

When it had passed she toddled into the street, not noticing the tender that dashed up behind the engine.

The driver of the tender, Mike Martin, saw the child in the middle of the street when he was but a few yards away. The child also saw the tender, but she stood quite still, not knowing which way to turn. Martin had to think quick and he did. Owing to the narrowness of the street he realized that to swerve to either side meant death for the child, as some part of the tender would strike her, and would also result in the wrecking of the truck and possible injury to himself and the other men on it. There was only one chance

He guided the horses straight ahead so they would pass on either side of the child, and they did. The pole of the tender struck the little one's head, but the wheels did not strike her. Mike drove on to the fire, and when he found that it was a false alarm he hurried back to where the child had been struck.

In the meantime a citizen had carried the little girl to a drug store and an am-bulance had been summoned from Gouverneur Hospital. Dr. Emily woman surgeon, responded and found the child to be suffering only from a scalp wound and shock, as might be expected. The child didn't want to go to the hospital and her mother also refused to let her be taken there. Dr. Dunning said it wasn't necessary and the little girl was taken

What worried her more than anything else was when Dr. Dunning, in dressing her wound, cut off some of her hair. "That's all right," said Mike Martin to her. "When you grow up you can turn your hair up pompadour and wear one of PRES'T HALLENBACK ARRESTED. Post Office Messenger Boy Says He Threw Him Off a Stoop.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., July 22 .-- G. H. Hallenback, president of the International College of Languages and a prominent resident of Rochelle Park, was arraigned to-day in the police court on a charge of assault. The complainant was John than was originally thought or admitted J. Owens, 16 years old, a special delivery t Saturday, the boy says, he went Hallenback's home at about 7 o'clock in the morning with a letter. He alleges that Mr. Hallenback, angered because of being awakened so early, snatched the letter from him, kicked him and threw him off the stoop to the lawn eight feet below, severely injuring

Mr. Hallenback pleaded not guilty, and was paroled for one week in the custody of his counsel, ex-Judge John A. Vanzelm. His version is that the messenger visited his home before 6 o'clock, and, after ringing the doorbell and failing to arouse any slammed the doors and shutters. noise made him very angry, but he only scolded the boy when he came down stairs. At the post office to-day it was said that the boy was so badly hurt that he was unable to work and that his parents were preparing to sue Mr. Hallenback for dam-

SHOT I. J. MERRITT'S DOG. Neighbor Did It and Mr. Merritt Says He Will Make Trouble.

A dog said to have been worth about $100, which was owned by Israel J. Merritt of Whitestone, senior member of the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company, was shot and killed yesterday by William Lee, a neighbor. When he learned of the shooting Mr. Merritt went to the police station and demanded the arrest of Lee, but was told that the police could not interfere, as the dog was on Mr. Lee's property. Mr. Merritt says he will spend considerable money before he drops the matter.

LOST TWO OF HER BARGES. Bellef That a Sound Steamer Cut Off Part of the Vigilant's Tow.

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 22 .- The tug Vigiliant arrived late this evening and reported that two of her six barges, the Abbey A. Dunn and Richard Jackson, with two men on each, were missing. The barges were lost in fog off Montauk Point on Tuesday night and it is believed that the hawser was cut by a Sound steamer. The tug continued to Newport dropped the barges, and after a fruitless search put in here to report Leader Donobue's Brother Arrested. Thomas Donohue, the brother of Matthew . Donohue, who is the Tammany leader of the Twenty-first Assembly district, was arrested at Eighth avenue and 121st street last night by Policeman Nevins, who says Donohue was driving wildly up the avenue

EBSTEIN REFUSES PERMIT FOR HER ARMY TO MARCH HERE.

She'll Try to Speak in Madison Square at Least, She Says-If She Can't Get to Oyster Bay She'll Return to Washington and Await the President.

If Mother Jones is not allowed to go through New York city on her way to Oyster Bay, she said last night, she will countermarch her army across Jersey and go to Washington and wait for the President

"He can't lose us," she told the 400 socialists of Jersey City Heights who turned out to hear her last night.

Nobody has told Mother Jones that she can't come to New York, and she'll be here with her forty-five followers some here with her forty-five followers some time this afternoon and hopes to make speeches to-night in Madison Square Park. But they can't parade in this city. Acting Police Commissioner Ebstein decided that point yesterday when L. D. Mayer, a representative of Mother Jones, went to Police Headquarters and asked for a permit to parade through the lower East Side. The application was refused.

parade through the lower East Side. The application was refused.

Mother Jones was in New York herself yesterday, but she didn't go near Police Headquarters. She saw the leaders of several Socialist organizations and made arrangements for housing her army at 84 East Fourth street, the headquarters of the Social Democrats.

"Never mind," said Mother Jones last night, when she got Mayer's report. "If they don't want us to parade we won't try to. I never have defied the police, and I never will.

I never will.
"We will stay in New York and Brooklyn the rest of this week and make speeches in Madison Square Park If the authorities." Mother Jones and her army left West Hoboken yesterday noon and marched two miles to the headquarters of the Union county Socialists, in Central avenue. Jersey City, where they were quartered for the night.

FAILURE OF NORCROSS BROS.

Contractors for the Public Library Unable to Meet Demands.

Boston, July 22.-Frank B. Smith and William E. Luey were to-day appointed receivers for the Norcross Brothers Company, building contractors. Inability to complete contracts is the reason assigned for the concern's difficulties.

The corporation has contracts in hand aggregating about $9,000,000 and owns and operates extensive granite quarries.

The company has the contract for building the public library at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street, in New York city.
The receivers were appointed by Judge Brown in the Superior Court, who fixed their bond at $100,000.

The application for the receivership was made on behalf of themselves and other creditors, by Manchester & Hudson of Providence, and Wells & Newton of New York.
The total indebtedness of the Norcross company is said to be $500,000. On the $9,000,000 of contracts which it has in hand, the concern has already expended $3,000,000.

The New York representative of Norcross Brothers is Thomas O'Reilly, who is a member of the Building Trades Employers' Association. At the headquarters of the association, 1123 Broadway, it was stated last night that the failure of the firm had no connection with the shudown on building work here. A representative builder in the association said: "Norcross Bros. are probably among the largest building contractors in the United States, but more than 90 per cent. of their contracts are in cities outside of New York. The largest contract they have

New York. The largest contract they have here is the New York Public Library, which has not been interefered with by strikes The failure is looked upon by build as a temporary embarrassment broug about by the magnitude of its operations.

W. K. VANDERBILT, JR., BACK. His Auto Driver Arrested on His Way to Meet His Employer at the Dock.

William K Vandarbilt Jr. who with wife and infant daughter, arrived vesterday from Liverpool aboard the White Star liner Oceanic, said that he had been only slightly burned by an explosion of acetylene while examining his automobile recently in Paris His face showed no traces of injury. He said:

"It was nothing serious. Fortunately the burning fluid did not get into my eyes. Mr. Vanderbilt went to his country home in Long Island, whence he will go to New-port. He said he expected to give his cousin Alfred a chance to chase him when he got his automobile in shape.

Henry I ebellleus of 202 West Thirty-fourth street, automobile driver for Mr. Vanderbilt, was arrested in the morning for speed ing a new twenty-four horse power machine on his way to meet his employer at the dock.
Policeman McCauley of the Macdougal street station saw Debeilleus going down West street in the automobile and thought hat he was exceeding the speed limit He noticed also that there was no license number on the automobile and made the arrest on the two charges.

In the Jefferson Market police court later, Debeilleus said that he was running not more than six miles an hour, and Thomas E. Hamill, his lawyer, explained that he had the machine out for the first time on rial and that no license was necessary. Magistrate Barlow paroled the prisoner in the custody of his lawyer, to appear at 10 o'clock this morning, and he reached the dock in time to meet Mr. Vanderbilt.

COL. DADY LOSING POWER? His Candidates Aren't Getting the Jobs

-Woodruff Fights Him, 'Tis Said. It appears that Col. Michael J. Dady, the versatile Republican statesman of Brooklyn, has not pull enough to land his brother. Timothy Dady, in a minor clerk-ship in the Board of Elections. It was announced yesterday that George Curran, a constituent of Albert T. Hobley, the leader in the Fifth Assembly district, had slated for the job. Col. Dady also failed recently in having his brother appointed to a clerkship in the Surrogate's office. These two incidents are supposed to indicate that ex-Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, the leader of the organiza-tion in Kings county and the chief dispenser of the patronage, is unfriendly to Col Dady and gradually undermining his political props.

FEWER ELECTION DEPUTIES. Governor Cut the Appropriation and Patronage Is Cut in Two.

Senator Plunkitt, chairman of the Tammany committee on elections got a letter esterday from George W. Morgan, Superintendent of Elections, notifying him that the number of deputies would be reduced this year. Last year 210 were appointed in New York county, so that Tammany got three in each Assembly district and the Republicans three. This year each party will have fifty-four in the county. The reason is that the appropriation the department was cut down by PEACE NOTIONS IN THE 34TH. Spitting Delegates With Nagle a Dangerous Practice for the Other Fellow.

The negotiations for peace within Tammany which have been going on in the Thirty-fourth district are again reported to have been happily concluded by the appointment of committees to agree on tickets for the primaries. Percy Nagle would like to settle it on the basis that he name half the delegates and John Haveron the other half. the other half.
"That," said a Tammany wise man,

"would mean that in about a week Nagle would be leader. Let him have half, and I'll bet he'll get the control."

GIANT STRIDES!

All Records Broken.

MOËT @ CHANDON CHAMPAGNE

> Showing an Increase of 22,036 CASES

Over the Same Period of 1902.

Imported During the First Six Months of 1903.

This places MOET & CHANDON at the HEAD of the importation list in the UNITED STATES, as well as in the WORLD.

MOËT & CHANDON

Own and Control More Vineyards than all the other leading Champagne shippers combined.

THE NEW VINTAGE

"WHITE SEAL"

PERFECTION IN CHAMPAGNE.

GEO. A. KESSLER & CO., Sole Importers, New York.

RACING NEWS CO. BEGINS WORK. Yonkers Concern Gives Information to Aid Poolrooms-Fighting Racetracks?

YONKERS, N. Y., July 22 .- A scheme to able betting on the races to be carried on at places remote from the racetracks was launched in this city to-day under the name of The Westchester Sporting and Financial News Company. The company was incorporated at Albany recently to establish, among other things, bulleting in public places on which may be displayed racing information received by wire. It is said that the plan is to furnish in formation necessary for persons to make bets on the races, although no betting is to be permitted at the main office of the news company, at 9 North Broadway, where a poolroom was raided some time ago. The poolroom contingent visited the opening of the place and watched operations with

Among those interested in the scheme are David B. Hunt, a prominent lawyer of White Plains, who has defended several indicted poolroom keepers; Thomas F. Corbalis, whose place at a North Broadway has been raided, and Hobart E. Rider of New York city.

It is said that the company was organized to fight the racetracks, but this was de-nied by Mr. Hunt, its counsel, who said that very little danger of a con viction, if an arrest is made, inasmuch as no paraphernalia can be seized as evi

MRS J. PARKER MASON TO MARRY

Her Engagement to J. B. Dumont-Once

Flancee of R. R. Remington. PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 22.- With some surprise local society learned to-day of the engagement of Mrs. J. Parker Mason to John E. Dumont. No date has been set for the wedding. Mr. Dumont is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and during the past fifteen years has figured conspicuously in the public affairs of Plainfield, having served a greater part of that time as Councilman. His first wife died two years ago. Mrs. Belknap, wife of the Republican candidate for Governor of Kentucky, is his daughter. Mrs. Mason is the widow of J. Parker Mason, for many years an iron com-mission merchant in New York, and the daughter of J. Howard Wright of 346 Lexington avenue, New York. Mrs. Mason became engaged, in the winter of 1901, to marry Robert R. Remington, son of Edward Remington of Philadelphia. The engagement, however, was broken, and it was soon afterward an-nounced that Remington was engaged to marry Miss Mary Van Alen, daughter of James J. Van Alen of Newport. Remington died of a bullet wound—self-Inflicted, it was declared—in the Reading Room at Newport on Aug. 18, 1902. It was then said that the breaking off of the en-gagement to marry Miss Van Alen had led to his act. A murder theory advanced later was pretty generally discredited.

GIRL'S STRANGE DEATH.

Falls Dead in Doctor's Office-Coroner Held Autopsy, but Reserves Decision. HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Ju'y 22.-Alice Fox, 21 years of age, daughter of John Fox, a well-known resident, dropped dead last evening in the office of Dr. L. D. McWayne She had gone to call on her dressmaker and having left there after a short stay went to the doctor's office, arriving there at about 9 o'clock. The attendant informed the girl that the doctor did not see any patients after 7 o'clock, but she protested so vehemently that she was in pain and must see him that the attendant aroused the doctor, and he consented to go into his office.

go into his office.

As the doctor entered the girl pitched forward and fell to the floor dead. The Coroner held an autopsy this morning, with Doctors Clayton E. Snaw and John T. Chill, but for some reason "reserved decision." He received the physician's report, but refused to make public any information. information.

BOY SAVES SEVEN MEN. Puts Out in a Rowboat to an Overturned Yacht-Gale Was Blowing. CHICAGO, July 22.-Sammy Davey, 13 years old, braved a gale on Silver Lake in Lake county yesterday in a small rowboat and saved the lives of seven Chicago business men. A squall came up, dismasted their vacht and overturned it The occupants clung to the sides of the boat. They were growing week from exhaustion when Sammy Davey walking along the shore, saw the struggling men. The boy put out in a row boat in the of the gale and reached the party. Four of them were taken into the boat and the other three clung to the side while Sammy other three clung to the side while saminy rowed to the shore. He became exhausted and one of the party, who had recovered his strength, took the lad's seat and land was safely reached. Sammy will get a gold medal for his bravery.

Here's an extra edition of mark-downs out to-day for men readers-$18 & $20 Suits for $12 & $15, is the heading-hence a saving worth having. Summer weights of Wool Crash. Homespuns, Cheviots and Worsteds. Sizes run up to 44 breast measure.

Stores. CITY BONDS GO CHEAPER,

Bids for $3,500,000 of 31/2 per cent. fiftyyear corporate stock were opened by Comptroller Grout vesterday. Two million dolpany at 102.39 and the rest was divided into: about fifty small lots. The total amount of the bids was $8,107,600. The average price was 102, making a net income basis stock took place on May 12, when the average price received was 104.33, upon which the net income basis was 3.32. Despite the reduction in the average price of the bids received, Comptroller this country." Municipal Water Plant for East Orange. EAST OPANGE, N. J., July 22 .- This city has decided to purchase 130 acres of land in Millburn and establish a complete munioipal water plant. The step was decided on at a meeting of the East Orange Council last night. The price will be $ The price will be $15,000

The Health Beverage.

Lime Juice The product of choicest West India Lime Fruit, it is delicious, wholesome and refreshing.

Sold by all Grocers and Chemists.

DIED

BLISS.-Suddenly, July 21, at his reside Owl's Head, Bay Ridge, Elliphale: W. 19183, in the 68th year of his age. Funeral services will be held at Christ Church Bay Ridge, on Friday afternoon, July 24, 7 4 o'clock. Interment at convenience of the 4 o'clock.

ELDRIDGE.-Early on the 22d inst., at Hospital, Brooklyn, Mary Emma Eldreife daughter of Horatio B. and M. Fila Eldreige Funeral services at Seney Hospital chancst. and 7th av., Brooklyn, at 4 o'clock P. M Thursday, July 23. MORA .- At her home, 23d av. and 82d st., Bense family. Kindly omit flowers.

hurst, Monday, July 20, at 2 P. M., Hele Mora, widow of William Morris. Funeral services Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, at her late home. MURPHY .- July 21, 1903, at her resident Davids, Delaware county. Pa., Helen Loudaughter of the late William F. and

Smith Murphy. Funeral services at 2024 Green st. Philaded Friday, 2 P. M. Interment private. K. omit flowers. PACKARD - At Great Barrington, Mass. 7 day, July 21, Charlotte H., widow of Sadler Packard. Funeral Thursday, July 23, at 2 P. M., at G Barrington, Mass.

the object of the company was to perform the work of the ticker, with fuller details of the different sporting events through-out the country. It is believed, however, that betting on the races can be conducted Three BROADWAY | Cor. Canal St.

But Higher Than the Bonds of Any Other American City.

lars went to the Knickerbocker Trust Comof about 3418 per cent.
The last sale of fifty-year corporate

Grout said that the securities of the city had been sold yesterday on a better basis than the securities of any other city or orporation in the country and ranked next o United States Government bonds. "It is apparent, therefore," he added.
"that New York city still sells its bonds on a better basis than any other city in t is estimated that the supply will be 6,000,

Especially in Hot Weather ROSE'S